Nuclear Blast Foes in Last Appeal

By MIKE SHANAHAN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—Opponents of a giant underground nuclear explosion put final touches on a Supreme Court appeal today as last-minute preparations for the blast went ahead on Amchitka Island off the Alaska coast.

Environmental groups, turned down Wednesday by a U.S. Court of Appeals, said they still hoped to prove that the test scheduled for 5 p.m. EST Saturday is unsafe.

Meanwhile, to dramatize his faith in the safety of the test, Atomic Energy Commission Chairman James R. Schlesinger planned to fly to Alaska today to be present for the test of the Spartan antiballistic-missile warhead.

Seven conservationist groups, headed by the Committee for Nuclear Responsibility, say the explosion is likely to set off earthquakes and tidal waves, spring radioactive waste into the air and kill fish and seals in the northern Pacific Ocean.

They say the government suppressed evidence about environmental dangers by keeping secret adverse reports and withholding government conclusions from a public statement required by law on potential hazards.

Among the evidence cited by the environmentalists was a secret report written by President Nixon's chief environmental adviser in December 1970, which said the Amchitka explosion could trigger a chain reaction of earthquakes all across the Pacific Ocean.

Russell E. Train, chairman of the President's Council on Environmental Quality, said in the report that tests smaller than the five-megaton explosion planned Saturday had set off quakes of less intensity than the blasts.

But he said there was no assurance that the Amchitka test—code-named Cannikin—would follow that pattern.

The Justice Department had sought unsuccessfully in two weeks of tangled court fights to keep the Train document and others secret.

Train declined personal comment on his report, but his lawyer on the council said the AEC's environmental-impact statement had considered all the possibilities Train listed.

Though turning aside the environmentalists' attempt to halt the blast, the appeals court opinion said, "In our view the case does present a substantial question as to the legality of the proposed test."

Complaining of the limited time available to study hundreds of pages of technical documents, the three judges said, "We are in no position to calculate the dangers from the Cannikin test."

They said their decision to allow the test to proceed was based primarily on national security and foreign-policy considerations.

Oct. Sales in Auto Industry Set New Record

By STEPHEN H. WILDSTROM
Associated Press Writer
DETROIT (AP)—U.S. auto-makers had their best month in history in October as buyers took advantage of savings under the price stabilization program, and imported car sales dropped below the October 1970 figure.

October was the second full sales month under President Nixon's new economic program that led to a rollback in the price increases of new domestic model cars, promised a lower excise tax and placed a surcharge on imported autos.

October traditionally is the U.S. industry's biggest month and the four major domestic automakers sold 933,713 cars last month, breaking the mark of 855,328 set in October 1968.

Imported car sales for the month were 106,267, pushing the grand total for October to 1,039,980. It was the first time this year that foreign car sales for any one month were behind those for the same month in 1970.

Last October, 118,143 foreign cars were sold. Importers blamed the drop in sales largely on supply shortages caused by East and West Coast dock strikes.

Only 629,152 domestic cars were sold in October of last year, largely because of a strike at General Motors. October domestic sales were 48.5 per cent above October, 1970, 14.2 per cent ahead of October 1969, and 5.5 per cent over the 1968 record.

GM topped the 500,000 sales mark for the first month ever. Ford and American Motors also registered increases, as only Chrysler slipped behind its previous two year figures.

Ford President Lee A. Iacocca, after seeing preliminary sales figures for October, predicted a record sales year for the industry.

"In fact," he said, "the market is very strong, and for all of 1971 it now appears the industry will, for the first time ever, exceed the 10-million car sales mark."

Iacocca's prediction included import sales, expected to reach about 1.55 million for the year.

October import-sales figures for Volkswagen and Datsun, which both had to battle the new import surcharge, strengthened earlier indications that the sharp growth of foreign sales had been stemmed as both reported a drop in sales over the same period a year ago.

Volkswagen's October sales dropped from 57,858 last year to 34,853 this year, while Datsun reported sales of 11,669 last month, down from 12,446.

Leaders Trying to Keep Foreign Aid Plan Going

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—House leaders have launched an effort to keep the Nixon administration's foreign-aid program in operation while Senate foes map plans to slash and revamp it.

A two-hour appearance by Secretary of State William P. Rogers before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee Wednesday failed to end the impasse that has developed since Senate rejection last Friday of the bill extending the aid program.

Rep. George H. Mahon, D-Tex., seeks rules Committee clearance today for House consideration next Tuesday of a continuing resolution to fund the aid program, plus items included in the unpassed defense and District of Columbia appropriations bills. The funds would last until Congress adjourns.

Members of the Foreign Relations Committee, meanwhile, hoped to decide at their fourth meeting of the week whether to seek Senate approval of a new, sharply cut aid bill.

Chairman J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., said after the session with Rogers the committee may have to come up with a new aid measure "to ward off a continuing resolution."

"Either we do something as an alternative or be faced with the necessity of accepting it," Fulbright said.

Current spending authority for the District of Columbia, defense and foreign aid expires Nov. 15, and the administration contends failure to act by then would mean the Agency for International Development would have to shut down, and its 6,500 U.S. employees would lose their jobs. Several senators, however, say AID could use the $1.7 billion already appropriated but as yet unspent.

One obstacle to another attempt to pass an aid bill was removed when Rogers told the committee the administration

Robber Gets $11,302 From Turrell Bank

TURRELL, Ark. (AP)—Authorities were still searching today for suspects in the robbery Wednesday of the Turrell branch of the Fidelity National Bank of West Memphis.

Joe Taylor, assistant cashier, said a man with a pistol took $11,302, but about $1,100 was later recovered from an automobile believed used as the getaway car.

Only one customer and a teller, Mrs. Jenny Lee, were in the bank when the bandit came in, holding a pistol in his right hand.

Mrs. Lee said the man said, "This is a holdup." "I thought he was kidding and gave him some change," she said. "He said, 'That's not what I want.' So I gave him the other."

The man had no sack with him. Carrying the money in his left hand and the pistol in his right, he headed for the door, but when he tried to open it the gun fired.

The bullet crashed upward into the door, then ricocheted into the ceiling. The man went out of the bank and got into a blue car with another man. The bandit was white, the other man in the car was black, officers said.

Major Banks Cut Prime Rate Again

NEW YORK (AP)—Four major commercial banks, led by Chase Manhattan Bank, cut their prime lending rate to 5 1/4 per cent from 5 1/2 per cent today.

The prime rate is the interest rate commercial banks charge their most credit-worthy corporate customers.

Announcing prime rate reductions with Chase, the nation's third largest bank, were Manufacturers Hanover Trust, the fourth largest; Morgan Guaranty Trust, the fifth largest; and Chemical Bank of New York, the seventh largest.

Chase and most of the nation's other banks had cut their prime rate of 5 1/2 per cent from 6 per cent Oct. 20. Some banks, however, broke away from the traditional prime rate method of fixing interest for their most credit-worthy corporate customers, and adopted a floating base rate.

"The continuing downward trend in money market rates over the past two weeks makes a further reduction in the prime rate appropriate to keep in line with short-term interest rates generally," Chase said today.

Killed in Car, Truck Collision

STUTTGART, Ark. (AP)—Otto Rieger, 93, of Rt. 2, Stuttgart was killed Wednesday in a car-truck collision on Arkansas 130 east of here.

State Police said a truck driven by Rieger pulled from a county road into the path of a car driven by Olga Hollinger, 57, of Almira. She was not injured.

Belgian to Expel Soviet Citizens

BRUSSELS (AP)—The Belgian government has decided to expel or bar from Belgium more than 30 Soviet citizens named as spies by defector Anatol Tchobotarev, an informed source reported today.

About a third of the Soviets have already left the country, the source said. He predicted there would be no sudden mass expulsion, as there was recently in Britain; instead, diplomats and trade representatives would be asked to leave in small groups.

They would all be gone "within a reasonable time," the source said. This would reduce the number of adult Soviet males in Belgium by more than a fourth.

The Foreign Ministry declined to comment.

Tchobotarev, 38, was a counselor at the Soviet Trade Mission in Brussels a few doors from the U.S. Embassy. He disappeared Oct. 3 in a car belonging to his mission. Later it was announced that he was in the United States. The list of names he furnished was transmitted to Belgium by the U.S. government, the source said.

"One reason the Belgian government is playing down the case is that the North Atlantic alliance, which has its headquarters in Brussels, has given Belgium the job of arranging the first talks with the Soviet Union on troop reductions in Europe. Foreign Minister Pierre Harmel is reported reluctant to take a strong stand for fear of hampering the prospective negotiations."

Texarkana Man Hurt When Car Hits Another

Last night about six miles out on Interstate 30 a pickup driven by Jack Bassett of Texarkana smashed into a parked car. Bassett was taken to a Texarkana hospital and the extent of his injuries are not known.

Both vehicles were believed total losses. State Trooper Wallace Martin said the parked car just off the highway had broken down.

A pickup driven by Robert Lively pulled onto Highway 73, near Hope and collided with an auto driven by Roy Arnold. Both vehicles were damaged. Officer Martin charged Lively with failure to yield the right-of-way.

Suit Filed to Reinstate Hairy Student

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A suit was filed Wednesday in U. S. District Court here seeking reinstatement of David Hogue, 17, a pupil at Judsonia High School, who was suspended from school because of long sideburns.

The suit asks that the youth be reinstated without penalty and that he be given the necessary instructions to bring him up to date on missed school work.

Hogue has been suspended twice this year, the suit said. The first suspension came Aug. 24 when he was sent home because his hair fell below the shirt collar, a violation of the school's dress code.

The suit said the youth got a haircut and returned to school, but that on Oct. 13 he was suspended because his sideburns went below his ear lobe.

High Court Nominees

Lewis F. Powell Jr.

By JOHN CHADWICK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—William H. Rehnquist disagreed today with a description of him as "an extreme conservative" and pledged that he would try to put aside his personal views if confirmed as a Supreme Court justice.

Appearing before the Senate Judiciary Committee the nominee disputed the opinion of John P. Frank, a leading constitutional lawyer in Phoenix who had called Rehnquist "an intellectual force for reaction" and said he was "backward" on civil rights and "a supporter of police methods in the extreme."

"This is not a fair characterization, even of my philosophical views," Rehnquist retorted. Frank's assessment was made in a letter to a newspaper in Phoenix, where Rehnquist practiced law before joining the Nixon administration as an assistant attorney general. The letter was read by Sen. Hiram L. Fong, R-Hawaii.

The committee began the second day of its hearing with an introduction of Lewis F. Powell Jr. of Richmond, Va., the other nominee for the court. Both of Virginia's senators, Harry F. Byrd Jr., an Independent, and William B. Spong Jr., a Democrat, heaped praise on the nominee who sat quietly between them at the witness table.

Powell was introduced early so Byrd and Spong could attend the funeral of former Sen. A. Willis Robertson.

William H. Rehnquist

Seven former presidents of the American Bar Association and the current president, Leon Jaworski of Houston, attended to back Powell, one-time ABA president.

The committee resumed the questioning of Rehnquist, chiefly by Fong, who was one of four senators who voted against the 1968 crime control law because he had reservations about its wiretapping provisions.

Fong, after questioning Rehnquist about Frank's letter, said he was "satisfied" that Rehnquist will follow through on his promise to "divorce" his personal views.

Such organizations as Americans for Democratic Action and the Leadership Conference on Civil Rights are opposed to Rehnquist's nomination, but they have announced they do not intend to fight Senate confirmation of Powell.

The American Bar Association's 12-member committee on the Federal judiciary notified the Senate panel Wednesday of its unanimous opinion that both Rehnquist and Powell are qualified to serve on the Supreme Court.

Such liberal Democrats as Philip A. Hart of Michigan, Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts, Birch Bayh of Indiana and John V. Tunney of California did most of the questioning at Wednesday's hearing.

Work Order Issued on 29 From 67 South

LITTLE ROCK (11-3)—A partial work order is being issued today for preliminary work to begin on the improvement of Highway 29 from the junction of U.S. 67 in Hope southward for one and one-half miles to the south city limits. The partial work order authorizes the contractor to remove trees, move and reconstruct fences and driveways, move and reset hedge and other obstacles on the right of way.

Actual construction will include necessary grading, minor drainage structures, gravel and asphalt treated gravel base, and asphaltic concrete hot mix base and surface courses on four lanes built to urban roadway specifications. The new facility would carry approximately 5,800 vehicles per day if it were now open. The project will cost an estimated $508,580. Arkansas Road and Gravel Company of Murfreesboro is the contractor. J. E. Belknap is the resident engineer.

Wholesale Prices Drop Under Freeze

By BROOKS JACKSON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Nixon's price freeze dropped wholesale prices an average of 0.1 per cent in October for the second monthly decline in a row, the government said today.

Wholesale prices for consumer finished goods went against the trend, rising 0.2 per cent, but this was attributed largely to a 2.1 per cent increase in food items, most of which are not subject to the freeze. Excluding foods, consumer goods were down 0.3 per cent.

Industrial commodities were unchanged.

When corrected for seasonal variations the wholesale price index showed a 0.1 per cent decline, the same as the unadjusted index, the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics said.

There were sharp declines in wholesale prices for lumber and wood products, gasoline, residual fuel, electric power, textiles, rubber and plastic products, the bureau said.

On a seasonally adjusted basis, wholesale prices for industrial commodities declined 0.3 per cent, farm products and processed foods and seeds rose 1.4 per cent and consumer finished goods were up 0.6 per cent.

Wholesale prices of American-made cars increased 1.6 per cent in October, the bureau said. But it said this did not necessarily violate the freeze because September prices were entirely for 1971 model cars while October prices are for 1972 models.

The 0.1 per cent decline follows a seasonally adjusted drop of 0.4 per cent for September, the first full month after the President's freeze announcement Aug. 15. However, prices paid by consumers rose on the average in September. Consumer figures for October will be available later this month.

The bureau said October's wholesale decline "is largely attributable to commodities subject to the provisions of the President's stabilization action."

The bureau said prices of raw agricultural products and imported items rose.

Raw agricultural products do not have price ceilings imposed under the freeze, and prices of imported items are legally allowed to rise by the exact amount of extra import duty and currency exchange rate changes brought about by the President's new economic policy.

The decline in the wholesale index brings it to 114.4 per cent of the 1967 level, 3.1 per cent above a year earlier.

PSC Suspends Increase in LR Telephone Rates

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The state Public Service Commission Wednesday suspended for 90 days a proposed rate increase sought by the Boone County Telephone Co.

The company had asked that the proposed rate increase be made effective Nov. 25 on an interim basis, with the understanding that the PSC would continue studying the rate increase and could order refunds if it is subsequently found the rate was not justified.

The company had asked for the rate increase to finance a $5.1 million construction project.

Sniper in Tower Ends Own Life

CARLSBAD, N.M. (AP) — For two hours, 29-year-old Michael O'Hearn was holed up in a school building tower, taking potshots with a rifle.

He kept saying "I'm in trouble and I can't come down," said Sheriff Tom Granger, who tried to talk O'Hearn down from the three-story tower.

What was troubling O'Hearn, a former mental patient, may remain a mystery.

The last shot O'Hearn took with the 30-06 rifle claimed his own life.

O'Hearn fired an estimated 20 shots during the ordeal but the most serious reported injury to those outside the tower was a slight arm wound to a deputy sheriff.

"There's a man upstairs with a gun," Jeanette Methola screamed Wednesday as she ran into the office of Asst. Principal Joe Stell.

Carrying a gunysack with the 30-06 rifle protruding from the top and carrying a .22 automatic, O'Hearn had entered Carlsbad Mid High School and gone to the second floor.

He went into the class of Mrs. Harold Olive and demanded a key to the tower. Mrs. Olive wrote a note and told Jeanette to take it to the office.

After haggling with Stell and Principal Merl Anderson, O'Hearn had the door to the tower unlocked. Anderson asked O'Hearn "very politely" to go inside and closed and locked the door.

School officials called the police, who blocked off streets in the area and ordered people out of sight.

From the tower of the junior high school building O'Hearn had a clear view through windows from all four sides.

Sheriff Granger eventually was able to get close to O'Hearn.

"We talked about 10 minutes and then he told me to leave," the sheriff said.

"There was no indication he would come down. If there had been, I guess we'd still be talking."

As Granger was leaving he pulled the pin on a tear gas grenade and tossed it at O'Hearn.

The young man, retaliated by shooting back at officers on the second floor roof before fatally wounding himself in the throat.

Officials say he was a Vietnam veteran discharged from the Navy in 1966 for mental reasons and that he later was a patient at the state mental hospital.

O'Hearn was single. He recently had returned to Carlsbad but he became very depressed when he couldn't find work, friends said.

Explosions Sink Oil Tanker in East Pakistan

DACCA, East Pakistan (AP) — Three explosions sank a small oil tanker in the port of Chittagong Wednesday night, Pakistani officials in Dacca reported. They blamed the explosions on Bengali saboteurs.

Seven crewmen and a fireman are missing and 10 crewmen were injured, the officials said.

The tanker was tied up at a pier in Chittagong, East Pakistan, a major port on the Bay of Bengal. One official said two explosions occurred half an hour apart and while crew members and firemen were battling the resulting fire, a third blast occurred, flinging them overboard.

Three persons were machine-gunned to death in Dacca overnight, bringing the number killed in the city to eight this week, police announced today.

The latest victims were sitting in a shop when attacked by robbers, who also wounded two others, the police said.

Martial law authorities are ordering anyone possessing unlicensed firearms to surrender them within four days. Anyone caught with an illegal firearm, explosives or ammunition faces a 10-year prison sentence under martial law regulations.

A City Income Tax May Not Be So Far Off

By ROBERT SHAW

Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Arkansas cities have not attempted to capitalize on their new authority to tax personal income, but the day might not be far off that some will.

William G. Fleman of the Arkansas Municipal League says "quite a few" cities are considering asking the voters to levy the tax, but that a lot of them are waiting to let some others try it first.

"It has the potential of becoming a very attractive source of revenue for the cities," says City Manager Robert L. Herchert of Camden. "I would imagine that in the next few years you will see many cities trying to take advantage of the statute."

"Probably what is happening now is that a number of smaller cities like Camden are waiting to see how this is going to work out when another city tries it ... waiting until one of the larger cities gets the bugs out."

It has been reported that indications are that the Little Rock City Manager Board will try to levy the city income tax. And the Fayetteville board seriously considered trying to persuade the voters to enact the tax, but has shelved the idea temporarily, apparently because of a lack of public support.

"Street talk indicates that the public doesn't believe things are as bad as they are," said Earnest Lancaster, a board member. "They believe all is fine. Until we prove we can't provide public services, they aren't going to listen."

For years, Arkansas' cities have been clamoring for more money from the state or more freedom to raise funds locally in order to relieve treasuries that officials say have been hard put to meet growing demands for services. The municipalities have been limited by the state Constitution and state law to a five-mill property tax and "nuisance" taxes such as service fees and occupation taxes. In addition, they receive state turnback funds based on population.

The 1971 legislature responded by approving "home rule" legislation offered by Gov. Dale Bumpers to give the cities of the first class more authority over their own affairs, including the power to levy the income tax, with the approval of the voters in a general or a special election. Certain matters, including the sales tax, were put off limits to the cities.

The city income tax would be computed as a percentage of the state income tax. No limit was placed on the percentage a city could levy.

The "home rule" law permits a city in the same election or a subsequent vote to also levy an income tax on nonresidents on the income they earn in the city. This could lead to cries of taxation without representation, since the nonresident would have no say in the matter, but the rationale behind the provision is that nonresidents earn their living in the city and utilize its services, such as streets and police and fire protection, and should contribute to the upkeep.

The statute does not require the nonresident to pay to two different cities, however. If the city in which he lives levies the income tax, he would pay proportionately to his home city and the municipality in which he works.

City Manager John T. Menwether of Little Rock says the municipal income tax would be "mildly progressive" because it takes into account a worker's total income, including salary, dividends, rents, interest and other earnings. Deductions allowed for the state income tax would affect the city tax, since it would be a "surcharge" on the state tax.

Menwether has said that to produce enough money to finance significant capital expenditures, a city income tax probably would have to be about half of the state tax. But he said probably the Little Rock tax would be below the 50 percent level if it were proposed.

The City Manager Board at Fayetteville had considered a tax of 30 percent of the state tax to finance a street improvement program, a parks and recreation program, and more fire and police protection.

City Manager Wesley Howe

said there was no response by residents to the proposal, leading to postponement of consideration by the board.

"There was a feeling that we would not have time for an educational program to persuade the people to vote for it this fall," Howe said. He said he assumed that perhaps the proposal might be considered again next year.

Herchert said the Camden City Manager Board had held preliminary discussions of the possibility of levying the tax, but he said he did not anticipate that the board would consider imposing the tax soon.

Fleming said municipal taxes in Arkansas were the lowest in the nation, averaging $16.52 per person a year. "We'd have to double all municipal taxes in Arkansas just to be 49th in the nation," he said.

He said the city income tax permitted by the "home rule" bill was a graduated tax, since it is based on the state tax, making it unique among the states.

"We support about anything that will bring in more revenue for the cities," Fleming said.

He and Sam Dibble each collected 1,288 votes in Tuesday's election and decided to settle the issue by a drawing. The first man to pull the Indian-head from the cup containing other pennies would be the winner.

Only 2 War Casualties Past Week

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command's weekly casualty summary today said only two Americans were reported killed in action last week in Vietnam, the lowest total since March 1965.

But a spokesman for the command acknowledged that there were four more combat deaths last Saturday. He said apparently they were not included in the summary because of a delay in the military reporting system.

The spokesman, Maj. Richard Gardner, pointed out that the four deaths—three in a helicopter that was shot down and one in a ground action—took place on the last day of the week. Presumably they "didn't get into the reporting system" in time, he said.

Gardner indicated they would be added on to this week's casualties, which will be announced next Thursday.

U.S. Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird had announced on his arrival in Saigon Wednesday night that the total of American battlefield deaths last week was the lowest since the United States assumed a combat role in Vietnam in March 1965. Apparently no one warned him about the vagaries of the reporting system.

The U.S. Command also announced that 63 Americans were wounded in action last week, 21 fewer than the week before. Another 19 died from accidents or illness, the Command said, 13 less than the total of deaths from nonhostile causes in the previous week.

Fewer South Vietnamese and enemy casualties also were reported last week.

South Vietnamese headquarters said 284 government troops were killed and 562 were wounded, compared with 394 killed and 790 wounded a week earlier.

The two allied commands claimed 1,058 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong killed last week, compared with 1,284 the week before.

The allied commands now have reported these total casualties for the war:

American—45,586 killed in action, 302,167 wounded, 9,879 dead from nonhostile causes.

South Vietnamese—135,279 killed, 293,177 wounded.

North Vietnamese and Viet Cong—780,632 killed.

Surgeons in Malpractice Suit Testify

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Dr. Henry Hollenberg of Little Rock, one of two surgeons who are defendants in a malpractice suit filed in Circuit Court here, testified Wednesday that he was aware that a Conway woman had a small lump in her right breast more than two years before she died of cancer.

The plaintiffs in the suit allege Hollenberg and Dr. Robert Jones, who are partners, failed to make an early diagnosis of breast cancer during her initial examination in January of 1966.

The suit is brought by the children of Mrs. Elizabeth Ann Donovan, who died at the age of 42 on June 19, 1968.

Mrs. Donovan was examined by the defendants on Jan. 7, 1966, again on Jan. 14, 1966, and again on Feb. 15, 1966.

Lou Ashe, attorney for the plaintiffs, told the jury that on Feb. 15 Hollenberg told her to return six months later. It was not until August, he said, that the malignant diagnosis was reached and treatment prescribed.

Romanian Reds Tighten Their Control

BUCHAREST (AP) — President Nicolae Ceausescu of Romania fired one of his Cabinet ministers today after announcing a program of tighter Communist party control over government, science and art.

Traian Ispas, minister of industry and building materials, was dismissed for "abusing and transgressing Communist legality," the Romanian news agency Agerpres reported. It gave no further details.

Ceausescu acknowledged some failings of his own leadership in a speech Wednesday before the party Central Committee that was drawing up a balance sheet on the program of ideological rigor launched in Romania four months ago. Some have called the program a return to Stalinism.

Ceausescu made clear that the ideological program meant bringing party apparatus into trade and business organizations where Western-oriented and nonpolitical technocrats have gained control over the past few years.

"It is necessary," he said, "to strengthen the role played by the party organization in ministries, research institutions and public institutions, including the creative unions," the artists' and writers' unions, for example—"and in the scientific organizations."

With all these indications of a further sealing off of Romania from liberalizing currents, Ceausescu nonetheless insisted that there was no return anticipated "to the past," a phrase which Romanians understand as meaning Stalinism.

The speech, however, did not appear to assuage the fears of a number of Romanian writers who have boycotted literary magazines since the cultural controls began to take effect at the end of the summer.

Only Guarding Dog Missing

MEMPHIS (Tenn.) (AP) — Memphis police answered a burglar alarm early Wednesday at Peter's Penny Grocery and found a window pried open, but nothing seemed to be missing.

Officers said they discovered the only thing taken was a German shepherd that had been left as a guard against burglars.

Jobless Rate Dips Some in Arkansas

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Employment Security Division reported Wednesday that the unemployment rate dropped a tenth of a percent in Arkansas in September to 5.4 percent.

The ESD said a reduction in the number of entrants into the work force was the prime factor influencing the decline.

Total unemployment dropped 3,700 during the month to 33,500.

The 143,000 factory workers in the state earned an average of $107,200 for a 40 1/2 hour work week in September. This is a one cent an hour increase in salary as the average hourly wage reached $2.66.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Bill Moyers, who was presidential press secretary for Lyndon B. Johnson, is host on a weekly educational television network discussion program, "This Week." His toughest assignment of the season was presiding Wednesday night over a critical analysis of his former boss' book, "The Vantage Point: Perspectives of the Presidency, 1963-1969."

Moyers, who probably knows more about Johnson than any of the three White House correspondents discussing the author and his book—often in complimentary terms—restrained himself in his interrogator's role.

He smoothly continued to question his guests after swallowing some tart observations. James Deakin, for instance, described the volume about Johnson's tenure as "not as Lyndon Johnson saw it but as he wishes us to see it."

William Lawrence, a veteran White House reporter, accused the former president of occasionally "shaving the truth." While Moyers injected a few sharp questions, only his tone of voice indicated he was on the defensive.

Consensus of the three guests seemed to be that the book reflected little of the "vital, tempestuous man" as one of them described the Johnson they had known and for whom they felt mixed emotions.

The program was hardly typical of the series. A man of opinions and perception, Moyers usually participates more actively in the discussions. It is an interesting, worthy series but a bit ragged in spots.

ABC's "The Smith Family," Henry Fonda's TV vehicle which is certainly making no waves, looked brighter this week with an action show and none of that cozy family stuff for a change.

Word was around earlier that the series would shift emphasis this season to cops-and-robbers stuff, but to date this type of treatment has been the exception.

Dick Cavett, ABC's late night talk show host, has won a year's renewal of his network contract. It will take him through 1972. In recent weeks Cavett and CBS's Merv Griffin have been slugging it out toe-to-toe in the ratings for second place.

It is widely anticipated that Cavett will not have his arch rival around for long since Griffin has indicated he wants out of his current spot by year's end.

Johnny Carson and his "Tonight Show" on NBC remain a lap ahead of the field.

of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Porter of Hope.

Miss White is a graduate of West Memphis High School and was a member of the Wildlife Fed and Delta Beta Sigma Sorority. She attended Henderson State College, majoring in Secretarial Science.

Mr. Porter is a graduate of Hope High School and attended Henderson, majoring in business, and is presently employed in Hope.

The wedding will be Saturday, November 27 at 8 p.m. in the Calvary Baptist Church in West Memphis.

All friends and relatives are invited to attend.

THE GENERATION RAP

—by Helen and Sue Bottel

(Got a problem? Or a subject for discussion, two-generation style? Direct your questions to either Sue or Helen Bottel—or both, if you want a combination mother-daughter answer.)

NO WAY TO "TREAT" A PROBLEM

Dear Helen and Sue:

My problem is that I enjoy wearing girls' clothing. I am a boy of 17. About two weeks ago, I got an urge to put on my older sister's mini dress, pantyhose, etc., and go outside.

Just then my sister drove up, and I ran for the cellar so I could get upstairs and change before she saw me. But our two neighbor girls (who also go to my high school) saw me.

My sister caught me, too. She sneeringly said she thought I was the cutest girl she'd ever seen, and she wouldn't tell our mother if I was a good little "girl" and did what she told me to do.

She drove me down to a shop and made me buy a dress, hose, panties, a bra, lipstick and I had to check out the stuff myself at the register where this girl I know from school works. My sister told her it was for me! She even made me spend my own money. When we got home, she gave the neighbor girls the story—her version.

Naturally they thought it was too good to keep. Between these four, the whole world knows, and kids at school are saying things like, "Hey, dearie, your slip is showing."

What can I do?—WANTING TO DIE
HELEN'S ANSWER

Dear Wanting:

What I'd like to do is present your sister with a brass-plated stink bomb as a "Meanest Girl of the Year" award! Perhaps she thought she'd "cure" you, but her actions were sheer cruelty.

What can you do? Tell your mother the whole story—and I hope she insists that your sister give a plausible explanation to the other girls, such as you were practicing for a Halloween masquerade or something.

Then I'd suggest you consult a professional counselor to determine whether or not you have an identity problem, and what to do about it.—HELEN

Dear Wanting:
Probably all your sister could see was a chance to get revenge on her brother, simply because he WAS her brother. If you fight a lot, maybe she was just waiting for a chance to pay you back.

I'm not convinced your dressing up occasionally as a girl means you've got a fetish or you're programmed wrong, but you should see an expert to make sure.—SUE

Dear Sue and Helen:

First of all, I love the way you two have decided to have a Generation Rap. It's pretty neat to have an answer from both sides!

Now, my problem: I'm 14 and FLAT and every boy tells ya so, too! I take after my Mom but in those days they didn't notice.

Where can a girl find a guy who looks for personality and not what his gal has got upstairs?—PROBLEM GIRL WHO'S AGAINST PADDING

Dear Girl:

I once knew a girl who was invited to a swimming party but didn't have anything "upstairs," either. She made the biggest mistake ever when she decided to "up" the "down" staircase by stuffing her suit with toilet tissue. She was in terrible shape after the first dunk—and so was the pool!

Just be glad you're not baggy up top. Small girls don't have nearly the problems that overfed girls have—and most boys DO look for personality, after that initial check-out.—SUE

Dear Problem Girl:

Honest, I can't see why you younger teens are so set against a little padding! Maybe that's why "they didn't notice" back in your mother's day. She was smart enough to give Mother Nature a boost (or bust).

When the "natural look" makes you self-conscious, it's time for a build-up, and if a few tease, tell 'em it's no sin to look your best. Otherwise, who'd wear clothes?—HELEN

PERSONAL TO "KNOWS I'M OLD ENOUGH": You're at the awkward age—too old for Dr.

Hope Mayor Dr. Sam Strong has designated Saturday, November 6th, 1971, as Fall Poppy Day 1971 in the City of Hope, Ark., according to an announcement made today. The proclamation was signed by Mayor Strong as members of the American Legion Junior Auxiliary Unit looked on.

—Prime Minister Indira Gandhi of India, to a reported offer by President Yahya Khan of Pakistan to pull his troops back from the border if India would do the same.

Scuss and too young for Dr. Reuben. Try badminton!—HELEN AND SUE

McNeese Rated 1st in College Division Poll

Sees Few Surprises On Saturday's College Card

By The Associated Press
McNeese State, winner of all seven games this season, has vaulted into first place in this week's Associated Press college division football poll.

The Cowboys from Lake Charles, La., second a week ago, received 11 of 18 first-place votes and 324 points today in balloting by a panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

While the Cowboys, who finished with a 5-6 record last year, were registering their seventh triumph of this season, a 17-7 decision over Troy (Ala.) State last Saturday, Delaware, last week's top-ranked team, was upset by Temple 32-27 for its first setback in seven games.

The defeated dropped the Blue Hens into third place. They collected one first-place nomination and 225 points.

Eastern Michigan, 6-0-1, garnered two first-place ballots and 288 points, and climbed from fourth to second.

North Dakota, named No. 1 by three voters, advanced one place, going from fifth to fourth.

Louisiana Tech and Western Kentucky, each 6-1, jumped three places apiece, being named fifth and sixth, respectively.

Tennessee State, also 6-1, held seventh. Akron, upended by Central Michigan 10-7 for its first loss in seven games, plunged from third to eighth. North Dakota State, beaten by South Dakota State 20-13, fell from sixth to ninth, and Boise State was placed tenth.

The top ten teams in the Associated Press College division football poll with season records and total points on a 20-18-16-14-12-10-9-8 etc. basis:

By MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLE
Pigskin Genius

Egad, friends, after the rash of upsets that swept across the nation's collegiate gridiron last Saturday you are no doubt wondering what's in store for the upcoming weekend.

Reports from Hoople operatives around the country indicate we can expect a return to normal. This is not to say, however, that there won't be some surprises, but in the main it will be a good day for the chalk bettors — kaff-kaff!

Such major unbeaten as Nebraska (8-0), Oklahoma (7-0), Georgia (8-0), Penn State (7-0), Michigan (8-0), Toledo (8-0), Auburn (7-0), and the Ivy powers Cornell (6-0) and Dartmouth (6-0), will rack up fairly easy triumphs.

We see Nebraska spanking Big Eight rival Iowa State, 45-12. Also in the Big Eight, Oklahoma will smother hapless Missouri, 36-12.

In the Southeastern, Georgia will roll over Florida, 29-17, and Auburn will take the measure of Miss. State, 33-22.

Michigan will trounce Iowa, 49-17, in a Big Ten meeting and Toledo will keep the nation's longest win streak intact as they make it 32 straight by turning back Northern Illinois 44-14. Penn State, the only unbeaten club among the major independent teams, should have little trouble with visiting Maryland. The Hoople System calls it 54-7 for the Nittany Lions.

Cornell and Dartmouth looking ahead to their showdown battle on Nov. 13 for the Ivy crown, will keep their records unsullied as the Big Red whacks Brown 39-9, and Dartmouth rolls over Columbia, 47-17—um-kumph.

The big surprises of the day will take place at Baton Rouge as twice-defeated LSU whacks high-flying (8-0) Alabama, 16-10, and at Columbus, Ohio when Duffy Daugherty's late-blooming Michigan State boys upset Woody Hayes' strong Buckeyes. In a bruising battle the Spartans will edge the Ohio State lads, 32-27—har-rumph!

Now go on with the forecast.

Squires First In ABA Eastern Division

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The American Basketball Association's Eastern Division race is beginning to resemble a rerun of last season.

At the end of the 1970-71 campaign, the Virginia Squires finished first and the Kentucky Colonels wound up second. And that's just the way they're running now.

The Squires, led by rookie Julius Erving, rallied from a 64-63 halftime deficit Wednesday night and beat the Dallas Chaparrals 127-117, raising their record to 9-3. Meanwhile, the Colonels took over the runner-up spot, downing the Floridians 118-111 for their sixth victory in 10 games.

Erving, the lithe 6-foot-6 forward from the University of Massachusetts, paced Virginia with 29 points against Dallas. "When he gains consistency on defense, he will be one of the super forwards in basketball," said Chaps' Coach Tom Nissalke. "Few forwards can move like he does."

Neil Johnson contributed 26 points for the Squires, while Charlie Scott, the league's leading scorer, added 25. Steve Jones topped Dallas with 28 points followed by Rich Jones with 25.

Kentucky's Dan Issel, last season's scoring champion and the current runner-up, poured in 33 points for the Colonels against the Floridians. The Colonels went ahead to stay 109-108 on two free throws by Cincy Powell with just over a minute remaining. Four foul shots by Artis Gilmore in the closing seconds clinched the victory.

Larry Jones led the Floridians with 34 points.

UI Coach Thinks Losing Streak Has Ended

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — For a while it looked as if Bob Blackman's parachute wouldn't open when he leaped from the Ivy League Tower comforts as Dartmouth's winningest football coach to the University of Illinois.

His Illini lost their first six games this season, being blanked in the first three after Blackman had avoided shutouts at Dartmouth for 90 consecutive games.

Then the 52-year-old coach pulled the rip cord and the Illini upset Purdue and Northwestern the last two Saturdays. They will be favored to defeat Indiana this weekend.

"That losing streak was one of the most frustrating times in my life," Blackman told the Associated Press. "But when I started at Dartmouth in 1955, we lost our first five—then got going. And that's what we're doing now."

Blackman's aim at Illinois was rebuilding statewide enthusiasm for the university which was shaken first by a slush fund scandal then by a record of only five Big Ten victories in four years under Coach Jim Valek.

Fanfare for the 1971 campaign was unprecedented at Illinois with the publicity department drumming out a theme of "It's a Whole New Ball Game." Blackman was victimized by the over-sell.

After six straight losses, he said, he received crank letters suggesting he return to the Ivy setting and even anonymous phone calls at his home.

"We had to gather enthusiasm," said Blackman, who toured the state selling Illinois football like an oldtime medicine man. "But I knew during spring practices that were extremely thin in spots and had many deficiencies. We had a young team, and, in some respects, some slow learners of a new system we wanted to install. And we had a team that didn't think like a winner."

Blackman revealed that there was a star status disciplinary factor that had to be overcome. "We had to establish the fact that rules are made for everybody," he said. "And when some players learned that we wouldn't look the other way if they didn't abide by the rules, then new respect was given us. Because of rule violations, we left a fine linebacker home when we opened the season at Michigan State and left a top defensive back behind when we went to Southern California."

Pittsburgh Condors

ABA—Eastern Division

1970-71 finish: W 36, L 48—5th place

PROSPECTUS: No, Virginia, there aren't any condors in Pittsburgh. There are also no Howard Porters or Connie Hawkinses. NBA's Chicago Bulls outmaneuvered Pittsburgh and landed Porter after Villanova star was seemingly cozily fixed in Condor's nest. Attempts to lure Hawkins back to ABA (he used to be in Pittsburgh when they were the Pipers) failed. That all leaves coach Jack McMahon with John Brisker and an otherwise bleak outlook. Pittsburgh sports fans should get all the enjoyment they can out of the Pirates' winning. It will have to last all winter.

FORWARDS: Brisker (29.3) improved on an excellent rookie season last year, winning spot on second team all-ABA roster. A tough, brawling 6-5, he averaged 9.7 rebounds, shot well and in general kept franchise alive. He got occasional aid from 6-8 Stew Johnson (16.0), who had one 62-point game but otherwise was not exceptional, averaging only 7.7 rebounds and playing indifferent defense. Other returning forwards are uninspiring: 6-6 Dave Lattin (6.5), 6-6 Joe Kennedy (6.2), 6-8 Ron Johnson (5.8). Whole raft of rookies, led by 6-8 Levi Wyatt of Alcorn A&M, will get shot. Rating: B-.

CENTER: Mike Lewis (12.9), though relatively small at 6-8, holds own under boards and ended up fourth in rebounding with 14.6 average. He's no big scorer, though, and gets into foul trouble often. As part of consolation prize for losing Porter, Condors picked up 6-10 Paul Ruffner from Chicago. Though big man saw little action with Bulls, he burned up league playing for Chicago farm team. Could be diamond in the Ruffner. You read it here first. Rating: C-.

GUARDS: Team needs playmaker. George Thompson (18.5) scored but averaged fewer assists than Lewis did at center. Skeeter Swift (13.1) was assist leader, with 3.3 average, after coming from Kentucky in trade. Chuck Williams (9.5) showed promise as rookie, will join Arvesta Kelly (2.6), Harry Laurie (1.4) and another flock of rookie Condors in trying to improve backcourt. Jim O'Brien of Boston College is best prospect among first-year men. Rating: C.

PREDICTION: Other teams in division all seem to have improved themselves. It looks like another long season for McMahon, who's had his share of them in both leagues. Sixth in East.

Sharp Attack as Cancer Group Meets

By BRIAN SULLIVAN
AP Science Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The president of the American Cancer Society said today that some medical organizations should devote more of their energy to educating American doctors about cancer.

The sharp and unusual attack at the American Cancer Society's annual meeting came from Dr. H. Marvin Pollard, who criticized opponents of President Nixon's plan to set up a separate cancer agency.

Pollard, in a speech prepared for the meeting, said that the average doctor has a low level of suspicion of cancer in his patients and this hampers early diagnosis.

"Also, my own feeling is that if some of our major educational organizations, including the American Association of Medical Colleges, through its spokesmen, would concentrate their efforts on the field of cancer education, rather than attempting to maintain the status quo of the National Institutes of Health, far more would result," Pollard said.

Although the administration's "conquest of cancer" plan is strongly supported by the cancer society, it has evoked equally strong opposition from a broad segment of the medical and scientific community.

The program includes moving the National Cancer Institute from under the wing of the National Institutes of Health and having it report directly to the President.

The National Institutes of Health has supported major medical research programs for years and other institutes under its wing are concerned with such problems as heart, lungs, allergic and neurologic diseases. Critics of the President's plan argue the move could lead to the destruction of the parent organization.

Pollard also indicated what the cancer society can do in educational areas and what direction it will go now that the Federal government is stepping up its research effort.

"The answer lies, I believe, within the potential of the American Cancer Society to assume the leadership—yes, and the responsibility—for fulfilling this major educational need," said Pollard, a professor of internal medicine at the University of Michigan medical school.

"To do this will require tremendous organizational skill, and, of course, a considerable amount of money. The American Cancer Society has a respectable source of both."

GOP Dinners to Help Finance '72 Campaign

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans hope to raise a whopping $5 million next Tuesday at a network of $500-a-plate dinners starring President Nixon, with a big chunk of the proceeds earmarked for the GOP campaign to re-elect him in 1972.

Nixon is to appear in person at two of the dinners, in New York and Chicago, and via closed-circuit television at the rest.

His supporting cast, at dinners in 20 cities, will range from Vice President Spiro T. Agnew and Bob Hope, in Chicago, to the Mitchells, Martha in San Francisco and John in Los Angeles.

The White House has been putting a non-political label on Nixon's trips away from Washington this year, but it won't fit this time.

"These are Republican party functions and the President as the leader of the Republican Party will participate," said White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler.

Nixon flies to New York for the first half of that participation, his speech there to be broadcast on a closed-circuit network linking dinners in Eastern cities from Boston to Miami.

He then flies on to Chicago, joining Agnew and Republican National Chairman Robert J. La Follette in an appearance due to be followed by dinners in the Midwest and the West.

The proceeds of each dinner are to be divided between the

U.S. Chopper Wipes Out Truck Depot

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. helicopter gunships wiped out a North Vietnamese truck depot in the northern quarter of South Vietnam, destroying all 10 vehicles and killing 11 enemy soldiers, the U.S. Command announced today.

The attack on the truck depot was the biggest action reported as Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird conferred with Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and Gen. Creighton W. Abrams on further American troop cutbacks, economic aid to South Vietnam and the pacification program.

A spokesman for the U.S. Command, Maj. Richard Gardner, said American pilots spotted the truck depot between the Laotian border and the A Shau valley, a key transportation point for supplies coming off the Ho Chi Minh trail.

Gardner said the 2½-ton trucks were spotted off the road, but the action reports did not indicate whether they were loaded. There were no reports of secondary explosions.

The attack was made by gunships of the 101st Airborne Division, the only American division still in South Vietnam. There were no U.S. casualties, Gardner reported.

The U.S. Command also issued a weekly casualty summary listing two Americans killed in combat last week, the lowest total since the United States took up a combat role in March 1965. But a spokesman for the command acknowledged that there were four more combat deaths last Saturday which apparently "didn't get into the reporting system" in time.

Another 63 Americans were wounded in action, according to the summary, and 19 died of accidents or illness.

The South Vietnamese command said 269 of its troops were killed in action last week and 562 were wounded. A total of 1,058 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong were killed, according to the two allied commands.

As Laird in his conferences mapped plans for an end to the U.S. ground combat role in Vietnam, the South Vietnamese command prepared for new dry season offensives to strengthen its hand before the major portion of the American troops are withdrawn by next July.

Lt. Gen. Ngo Quang Truong, the commander in the Mekong Delta, told Associated Press correspondent J. T. Wolkstein that he is planning a new drive to destroy the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong bases remaining in the U Minh forest and at the southern tip of the Ca Mau peninsula.

Truong gave no timetable, but the dry season usually begins in the delta in December.

Republican National Committee and the state GOP Republican finance men planning the dinners have set a $5 million total goal, and hope they can top it.

That would put at least $2.5 million into national committee coffers, and committee officials said it would be used to pay any leftover campaign bills this year, and to begin the campaign of 1972.

Nixon Urges Pullback of Indian Troops

By SPENCER DAVIS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon confers with India's Prime Minister Indira Gandhi today and is expected to urge her to order a mutual pullback of troops massed along the borders of East and West Pakistan.

The Indian leader arrived Wednesday night for a two-day official visit. She was scheduled to receive a ceremonial welcome from the President and Mrs. Nixon at the White House today.

The meeting between the American and Indian leaders comes at a time of deepening crisis in South Asia as refugees continue to flee from East Pakistan at the rate of 30,000 to 40,000 per day.

Mrs. Gandhi was reported ready to urge Nixon to use his utmost influence on Pakistan President Agha Mohammed Yahya Khan including a cutoff of all economic aid until a political settlement is reached.

The Pakistani president has offered to pull back his army which faces nine Indian divisions on West Pakistan's borders, and seven Indian divisions on the frontiers of East Pakistan. Mrs. Gandhi refused and ordered a mobilization of Indian reserves and state militia.

White House officials consider the situation highly inflammable, and the main U.S. effort is expected to focus on steps to cool things down.

In addition to the crisis in South Asia, an intensive discussion of U.S.-Indian relations is likely between Nixon and Mrs. Gandhi.

After her meeting at the White House, Mrs. Gandhi will visit the Woodrow Wilson Institute at the Smithsonian Institution and attend a reception in her honor given by the Indian ambassador.

President and Mrs. Nixon invited 117 guests to a state dinner in honor of Mrs. Gandhi tonight, and Friday Mrs. Gandhi is scheduled to meet with

Poor Man Philosopher Really Not Against Marriage Itself

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — "Dear

Poor Man's Philosopher:

"I am a young man going with a nice girl who wants me to marry her. I am not against marriage itself, but my girl is a strong believer in the Women's Liberation Movement, and I'm afraid I'll wind up henpecked and dominated."

"What should I do?"

"Perplexed."

Dear Perplexed:

What should you do? Why, marry the young lady, of course.

There are thousands—perhaps hundreds of thousands—of young men in America today who feel themselves in the same plight you do.

But your fears are groundless. The Women's Liberation Movement should not be looked upon with dread and suspicion by men. It should instead be greeted with open arms and glad cries. For it may result in the greatest advancement of men in the history of human relations.

It is his unwillingness to treat woman as his equal that has enchained man for centuries. Instead he treated her as either a child or a goddess and alternately pampered or idolized her.

What a cushy place the world became for a smart woman. She could throw a tantrum and get her way or stand on her pedestal and demand man's groveling worship.

In time the legend spread that women were dainty defenseless flowers to be guarded against all possible dangers and treated with a host of foolish and unnecessary courtesies. The legend also grew up that women were romantic-hearted and too flighty to deal with money matters.

What a fraud, palmed off on bumbling man by women themselves!

The average woman, as every other woman knows, has the heart of a tigress and the mind of a steel trap.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers and deliver a National Press Club address.

But now, for a reason known only to themselves, women want to dress, act, and work like men and to be treated as their equals. They want to step off their protected pedestals and go into the marketplace.

One wonders what the advantage to them is unless they wish to work themselves to death at an earlier age—just like men.

But what a lucky break it is for a sensible young man. As his bride strives more and more to be like him, he can warily become more and more like she used to be—and perhaps in time climb up on the pedestal she deserted.

Yes, young man, let Mildred get the ulcer in the family. All you have to do is pat her on the back every morning and give her a lollipop on her birthday, and she'll purr like a kitten.

Any man who fights women's liberation is fighting against his own.

Anti-U.S. Terrorism Hits Brazil

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP) — Brazilian forces were on the alert for more anti-U.S. terrorism on the anniversary today of the police killing of a rebel leader.

Terrorists on Wednesday burned the automobiles of two U.S. businessmen and a U.S. consul and exploded a small bomb in a restaurant above the U.S. Consulate. Each car was burned in the driveway of the owner's home and the letter "ALN" were scrawled in paint nearby.

The initials stand for Alianca Libertador Nacional—National Liberation Alliance—whose leader Carlos Marighela was killed in a police ambush on Nov. 4, 1969.

The ALN is the most active of the antigovernment terrorist groups. It recently burned a number of cars belonging to a progovernment newspaper chain and staged several lucrative holdups.

U.S. Deputy Consul-General Francis X. Lambert was the first victim Wednesday. The barking of his dog woke him at 5:30 a.m., his car's horn began to blow, and the 54-year-old diplomat ran outside to see his 1970 Chevrolet Impala in flames.

Bishops Vote on Social Justice Document

By PATRICK O'KEEFE
Associated Press Writer

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The World Synod of Roman Catholic bishops votes today on a social justice document calling for action by the Church to improve the plight of the poor and oppressed.

"This is not just another document," said one of the synod's leading liberals. "There are specific suggestions in there which, if carried out, can't help but do a lot of good."

Although copies of the social justice paper were not yet available to newsmen, it constituted something of a liberal counter to the conservative document on the priesthood approved this week by the bishops. That paper supported the ban against marriage for priests and recommended that they be prohibited from taking a leading part in politics without permission from their bishops.

One synod source said the social justice document takes the church to task for some of its own social injustices and insists that the Church set an example, especially by catering to the poor.

Another section reportedly explores the rich, whether individuals groups or nations, to make sacrifices to aid the poor.

The paper also includes a "few lines" urging Catholics to practice "responsible parenthood according to the norms or morality," the source said. There is no repetition of Pope Paul's explicit ban on contraceptives, thus leading liberals to view the document as encouragement to Catholic couples to decide about birth control according to conscience.

The paper also was said to attack all forms of discrimination, to uphold pacifism and conscientious objectors to service in wars, and to deplore the arms race, especially among the superpowers.

Sixteen bishops of the Ukrainian Rite holding their own synod in defiance of a Vatican ban asked for an audience with Pope Paul VI to reconcile their differences. But a Vatican source indicated chances were slim that the pontiff would see Josef Cardinal Slipyj, the Ukrainian Rite leader; Metropolitan Maxim Hermaniuk of Winnipeg, Canada, or any of the other 14 bishops associated with them.

The source said the Pope was deeply hurt by Cardinal Slipyj's speech on the floor of the World Synod two weeks ago in which he lashed out at papal diplomacy seeking a detente with Moscow. The cardinal accused the Vatican of "putting aside Ukrainian bishops and priests imprisoned in the Soviet Union

House Favors Board Against New Plan to Aid Colleges

By JOHN BECKLER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has gone on record in favor of a major new program of general aid to the nation's colleges that could cost $1 billion a year.

Despite strong administration opposition, doubts as to its constitutionality and warnings that it could lead to federal control of higher education, an attempt to kill the program was overwhelmingly defeated, 310 to 84, Wednesday.

The new aid program is the costliest item in a massive five-year, $21.7-billion higher education bill on which the House is expected to complete action today.

Before the final vote is taken, however, the House will have to deal again with President Nixon's $1.5-billion school desegregation bill, which was defeated Monday on a preliminary test.

The bill, rewritten to include an antibusing provision, will be reoffered today or Friday as an amendment to the higher education bill.

The new general aid program for colleges and universities to help them meet rising costs of education. Although the government now provides large sums to colleges in research grants and special aid, no operating funds are being provided.

Rep. Edith Green D-Ore., chief sponsor of the bill, said there is a financial crisis in the higher education community that could cause hundreds of institutions to close within the next few years unless they receive federal help.

Her bill would provide them with grants of $100 for each student in the freshman and sophomore classes, $150 for each junior and senior and $200 for each graduate student.

The administration opposed the program during its consideration by the House Education and Labor Committee and strongly hinted that no money would be put into it at all.

Some members fear the program will be struck down by the Supreme Court because it would provide grants to church-related colleges.

May Sell Tainted Turkeys

By G. DAVID WALLACE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department is considering a plan which would enable Swift & Co. to market 50,000 turkeys tainted with DDT-like chemicals if the meat can be made to measure up to federal standards.

The plan, which could save Swift $300,000 by government estimates, consists of cooking the chemicals out of the turkeys, then clearing them for use in frozen dinners, soups and pot pies. Officials emphasized in interviews that the meat would have to be proven safe.

If adopted, the plan would be the closing chapter in what remains the most mysterious incident yet involving contamination of food by a family of industrial chemicals called polychlorinated biphenyls, or PCBs. The chemicals have been blamed for skin ailments in humans and liver disease and birth defects in test animals.

The contaminated turkeys were discovered at the Swift & Co. plant in Detroit Lakes, Minn., last August. Officials still have not disclosed the source of the contamination.

Agriculture Department experts say something evidently contaminated fat used as a finishing ration and fed to the turkeys in their last six weeks before slaughter.

"We now have reason to believe there was one hot shot of fat into one ration," said Dr. Fred J. Fullerton, director of field operations for the department's Consumer and Marketing Service.

But neither Fullerton nor his members of the panel, the Washington Post reported today.

"This is an insult," United Auto Workers President Leonard Woodcock was quoted as telling the members before the three-hour closed meeting broke up.

The newspaper said the five public members and five industry members drew up plans which would bar payment of wage increases retroactive to any date during the wage-price freeze. Both would set a 5 per cent standard for future increases in wages and fringe benefits.

Also in the public member draft plan, the newspaper said, is an extension of the absolute freeze to mid-January. It was understood to contain a complex formula for renegotiating future pay increases written into contracts negotiated before the freeze.

Renegotiation would be required if the affected worker had received pay increases totaling more than 12 per cent over the past 23 months—or roughly 6 per cent a year, the newspaper quoted one source as saying.

The report said no decisions were reached at Wednesday's session but that AFL-CIO President George Meany has hinted labor leaders will walk out unless deferred increases in existing contracts are honored.

special assistant, Dr. Joseph Stein, would speculate on what contaminated the fat. "I think I know," said Stein. "If it ever comes to where we have some proof, we'll give you a call," said Fullerton.

Can it happen again?
"If it's true what I think, that source has been eliminated," said Stein.

A three-state survey in September led the department to declare the incident an isolated one. Officials said at the time they would test the turkeys lot by lot to see if any were safe enough to be released for Thanksgiving tables.

The tests found every lot contained excessive levels. The federal guideline for PCBs sets a maximum permissible level of 5 parts per million.

TYPICAL MALE CHAUVINIST reaction might be that Mrs. Susan Keister, right, is searching for a lost bobbypin and just happens to be in a jet engine laboratory. Actually, Mrs. Keister, 30, is studying jet flight technology at Southern Illinois University. The only woman in the course, she also has logged 5,500 flight hours and cares for her five children.

Four Season Nursing Home Plea Rejected

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP) — A federal judge indicated Wednesday he would reject the state of Ohio's claim that a reorganization plan for Four Seasons Nursing Centers of America was unfair because it would force the state to accept stock in the firm.

Attorneys for Ohio had objected to the plan, saying that if Ohio is issued stock for its claim, the state would have to sell it immediately at "forced sale" prices under provisions of the Ohio constitution.

Ohio is seeking to reclaim $4 million it lent to the corporation.

Chief U.S. District Court Judge Luther Bohanon, who opened a hearing on the reorganization plan Wednesday, said Ohio was raising a "bugaboo" objection. He said since the state had engaged in commerce, it had to take this position alongside other claimants.

"It's unfortunate you got into this mess," he told two Ohio attorneys, "but a lot of other people are in it, too."

Assistant Ohio Atty. Gen. Richard N. Patterson had argued that under the state constitution, Ohio would have to sell any stock it received now, and that would damage all other creditors by making their stock less valuable.

"Ohio cannot be compelled to violate its own constitution," Patterson contended.

Court-appointed trustee James R. Tolbert III testified Tuesday that losses of the corporation and its subsidiaries may run as high as $100 million.

Bohanon approved a compromise plan for the organization's stockholders and praised Tolbert for a "magnificent" job of handling the financial angle.

Reds Accused of Halting Prisoner Mail

By MICHAEL GOLDSMITH
Associated Press Writer

PARIS (AP) — The United States accused North Vietnam today of sharply curtailing the number of letters American prisoners have been allowed to write to their families in the past six months.

U.S. negotiator William J. Porter told the 135th weekly session of the Vietnam peace talks that the number of letters from prisoners had been cut by more than 85 per cent since last year, and fewer than 50 of the acknowledged 339 prisoners in North Vietnam have been allowed to write.

He said the 339 prisoners were allowed to send 1,300 let-

Scientist Say They Can Only Go So Far Then Must Make Test

By BILL STOCKTON
AP Science Writer

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — Ask a nuclear scientist shutting between Anchorage and rocky Amchitka Island why the powerful nuclear weapon beneath the island should be exploded and he'll say: "You can only go so far in theory before you must test."

Ask the young man in furry parka and heavy boots pacing to and fro with his protest sign in front of the federal courthouse here why the blast should be stopped and he speaks of possible earthquakes, tidal waves, radiation leaks and the nests of bald eagles and peregrine falcons on Amchitka's coastal cliffs.

The controversy that has arisen over the Atomic Energy Commission's plans to detonate Cannikin, a nuclear device equivalent to five million tons of TNT, is the latest example of modern technology coming face-to-face with environmental dangers.

But the debate over the Amchitka test, now set for Saturday, is further complicated by international issues.

Amchitka, a barren windswept 43-mile-long finger of an island 1,400 miles west of here, ters in the six months from May to October of last year. In the same period this year, only 170 letters have been received by the families, Porter said.

"North Vietnamese officials have said all prisoners may write monthly," he continued. "By this standard, the acknowledged 339 prisoners in North Vietnam should have sent over 2,000 letters in these half-year periods."

"The Geneva prisoner-of-war convention's minimum requirement—two letters and four cards per month—calls for over 4,000 letters and 8,000 cards from this number of prisoners per half year."

is only 670 miles from Russian territory. Japan is 1,500 miles distant. Mainland China 2,000 miles. The continental United States, on the other hand, is more than 2,000 miles away.

Of the countries near Amchitka, so far only Japan has protested. But the Soviet Union denounced earlier detonations on the treeless island.

Because Cannikin is a defensive weapon, proposed for use on the Spartan antiballistic missile system, many justifications for the test must remain secret, AEC and Defense Department officials say.

Scientists building the first atomic bomb in 1945 were confident their calculations were correct. But they had to test it before the device would have any military value.

Likewise, AEC weapons experts say, for the Cannikin device.

Spartan is designed to eventually streak into the sky, dueling any incoming enemy ICBMs in the vacuum of deep space where a conventional nuclear weapon wouldn't be satisfactory.

On the ground, a nuclear weapon wreaks its havoc with searing heat and the shock wave transmitted by the air. But in space, the heat would have little effect on a missile and there is no air to carry the shockwave.

But an enemy ICBM can be knocked out by bombarding it with intense radiation—powerful X-rays and neutrons. They would penetrate the missile's skin, alter atomic structure in the electrical components and render them useless.

The radiation would travel for hundreds of miles at the speed of light in the vacuum of space. A single Spartan warhead might throw up a curtain of radiation enemy missiles couldn't penetrate.

When In Rome

tourists may go out in the midday sun, but Romans have a better idea. When the Eternal City sizzles, they head for the shade. Any spot will do, such as the shadow of the Arch of Constantine for at-liberty coachmen in the Forum (right). A very small businessman, proprietor of a sidewalk telescope (below left), with no business for the magnificent view dominated by St. Peter's dome, huddles in the patch of shade from his umbrella. Siesta setting for two youths (below right) is a column of the temple of Venus.

Penobscots Prefer to Go It Alone

By TOM TIEDE

INDIAN ISLAND, Me. — (NEA) — Three centuries ago, when the Penobscot Indians were still to be reckoned with here, they were befriended by a white settler named Joe Marsh. Marsh seemed a nice fellow, did some favors for the tribe, and so when he asked one day if he could lease a small piece of land for a homestead, the Indians said fine and welcomed him graciously as a neighbor.

It was a lasting lesson for the redmen.

Marsh took the lease agreement to territory officers for ratification. When he returned he had a permanent deed instead of a temporary lease, and his small homestead was a gigantic chunk of the Indian's most valuable property.

Not surprisingly, the Penobscots haven't trusted the white man since. Nor wanted anything more to do with him, than absolutely necessary. Thus it is that some of the tribe have never considered themselves a part of the United States, and to this day feel they're people of the sovereign, Penobscot Indian Nation.

"Look at the record," says one tribal council member. "We have no treaties with the United States. The United States has never formally recognized us. So you see we're not U.S. citizens. We don't owe any allegiance to anybody but ourselves."

The comment, like the tribal opinion, is not just rhetoric. There are several tribes in the United States which ignore U.S. citizenship. But the Penobscots have more than just passion working in their favor. There has, indeed, never been a treaty between the tribe and the federal government. The only treaties the Penobscots ever signed were with the state of Maine, and those, according to many observers, are unconstitutional. Therefore, say some Penobscots, "We should be able to make our own laws and run our own nation the way we want."

In essence, the Penobscots are already running things more or less the way they want. The tribal headquarters, as well as about 350 of the people, are sequestered on this tiny island, north of Bangor, in the Penobscot River. It's hardly a throwback to the wild west here. "I could never be happy without my television set," but Indian Island is something of an island unto itself. Tribal officials make most of the laws, and a tribal constable enforces them. Whites usually intervene here only as tourists. And the only physical connection with the mainland is by way of an ugly, gray, 20-year-old one-way bridge.

Yet more isolation is not enough for the nationalistic

Star carriers that qualified Gary Hastings, Coy Stone, Allen Stambaugh, Dean Stambaugh, Steve McCorkle, Ray Rogers, Ricky Stambaugh, Ricky McMullan, Ronald Arterbury, Mark Rateliff, Steve Barton, Brad Rogers, Dale Lafferty and Mike Atkins.

Others that qualified but not in the picture included Bill McCulley, Kenny Rowe, Terry Crider, David Russell, Wayne Akin of Fulton, Ada Lynn Otwell of Emmet and Dwayne Kyzer of Prescott.

The Hope Star has started an honor roll program to give recognition to the boys who do their job well and pay their bills each week. A list of the ones on the honor roll is posted at the Hope Star weekly. Other methods are also used to give the boys incentive to do their very best. Trips, prizes and parties are always on the agenda.

Last Saturday October 30th the annual Halloween party was held at the Town & Country with food, prizes, and games—a fun night for everyone.

After church Sunday a trip was made to the Louisiana State Fair on the invitation of Candy Candido, Good Will Ambassador for the fair. While there they met all the stars of Grandstand entertainment and had their pictures made with Candy and Billy Thundercloud, leader and feature singer of the Chieftone, a group that is fast moving to the top.

members of the Penobscot Nation. They want total recognition as a country within a country. "I'd like to see the time," says one Penobscot, "when we taught our own language in our schools, when you couldn't find a red, white and blue flag on the island, and when our history books didn't say that George Washington was our first president."

Predictably, this go-it-alone spirit is not total among today's 800 surviving Penobscots. (Some older people say the talk of nationhood comes from kids "who play at being important.") But the sentiment is strong enough that the tribal council has seriously considered petitioning the United Nations for membership, and one council official (a decorated Korean veteran) has gone on record against drafting Penobscots for war because "We aren't governed by federal laws."

Moreover, those Penobscots who do believe in sovereignty, do so vigorously. Like Eugenia Thompson (her Indian name is Sipsis), wife of a lawyer, mother of four children, and the most outspoken antifederalist in the tribe. Not only does she want Penobscot nationhood, she wants a strong one. This means, she says, "We have to go out and get back all the lands which belong to us."

Such lands are considerable. According to treaties with Maine, the Penobscots (in the early 1820s) were granted full right to all lands six miles on either side and 30 miles up the Penobscot River "so long as they shall remain a nation." Today this land is an insurmountable beauty. It comprises a couple dozen towns, the University of Maine, and, according to one state official, "some of the most potentially valuable property anywhere in the United States."

Last year Mrs. Thompson made a dramatic attempt to regain some of this land. She presented a parchment ultimatum to the officials of Old Town, Me. She claimed Old Town "was stolen from the Indians by Joe Marsh." Her ultimatum was an eviction notice. She advised the merchants of Old Town to pack up and get out.

Not surprisingly, that attempt to regain lost land failed. And so in the end perhaps, will the Penobscots' bid for nationhood.

THEIR TINY ISLAND north of Bangor is more than a tribal headquarters; it is the sovereign "Penobscot Indian Nation," say the 800 inhabitants.

Strangely enough Ely did not bother to comment on a great weakness of the Sims' system as shown by today's hand. Hal elected to pass as dealer and to continue to be quiet at his second turn. Hal did not like to open four-card suits and his no-trump openings were generally very strong so he could find no bid with his 15 points.

The reason Ely failed to comment on this Sims' weakness is that he wanted to point out how the 1935 Culbertson system allowed him to rebid three spades with his two aces and seven-card suit.

Therefore, Ely won the diamond with his ace and started on hearts. Sims took his ace and continued with diamonds but hearts broke 3-3 and Ely got rid of one of his losers.

Opening lead—♦ Q

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Strangely enough Ely did not bother to comment on a great weakness of the Sims' system as shown by today's hand. Hal elected to pass as dealer and to continue to be quiet at his second turn. Hal did not like to open four-card suits and his no-trump openings were generally very strong so he could find no bid with his 15 points.

The reason Ely failed to comment on this Sims' weakness is that he wanted to point out how the 1935 Culbertson system allowed him to rebid three spades with his two aces and seven-card suit.

It was a good bid since many modern players would have tried two spades and played the hand there.

Sims opened the queen of diamonds and Ely explained that this diamond lead gave him quite a problem. Should the spade finesse lose the opponents would almost surely wind up taking one trick in each suit. Ely decided that a better line of play would be to see if he couldn't get a quick discard on dummy's third heart.

Therefore, Ely won the diamond with his ace and started on hearts. Sims took his ace and continued with diamonds but hearts broke 3-3 and Ely got rid of one of his losers.

Coastal Storm Leaves Wake of Destruction

Editor's Note: Santosh Basak of The Associated Press was one of the first newsmen to visit the coast of Orissa State after it was devastated last weekend by a cyclone and tidal wave. In this dispatch, he writes of the damage to a village 200 miles southwest of Calcutta.

By SANTOSH BASAK
Associated Press Writer
BHADRAK, India (AP) — In the best of times, life is not prosperous in this small farming town on the coastal plain about 20 miles from the Bay of Bengal.

Today it is hell.
Last Friday afternoon, storm clouds moved in from the coast. By Monday, a cyclone and the wash of a tidal wave had swept over Bhadrak and most of the coastal region of the east-central state of Orissa. The latest official estimate of deaths is 6,000 in the state, but this is expected to rise much higher when reports are received from areas that are still isolated.

Because Bhadrak is not on the coast, it escaped the brunt of the tidal wave, and only 20 of its 7,000 people are known to have died. But the destruction of their mud and bamboo huts and the crop loss on the surrounding rice farms is a major tragedy for these farm laborers with little or no money and no prospect of getting any.

Sambhu Shau, owner of a small business, said that as the storm clouds built up Friday afternoon, the winds got stronger and stronger.

"The winds were so strong at one point that it was impossible for anyone to stand up without grabbing or holding on to something. By evening, tree tops were touching the ground and the roofs of many houses had blown away."

People frantically threw straw mats—or anything they could get their hands on—onto the roofs of their houses in an attempt to keep them from being blown away.

"But nothing was of much help," Shau continued. "People were so frightened. Women and children were crying. It seemed as though that night the whole town was crying."

Mrs. Sitala Roy, a middle-aged woman who came to a makeshift stand to buy some rice for her family, said the winds swept away her small house "in only a few minutes."

Then, after the cyclone came, the flood waters came and swept away everything that was left of my house," the woman added, sobbing.

The winds swept rivers of raging water through Bhadrak's streets.

Trees are strewn about like matchsticks.

One of the biggest buildings in the bazaar district was split in half when a giant banyan tree fell across it.

Water is knee deep in most of the village. Health officials are concerned that as it slowly recedes, cholera will follow.

Plans Made for $850,000 Prison Unit

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State Rep. George W. Davis of Horatio has accused state Planning Director Troy York of violating the law that created the state Planning Commission.

In a letter to York, Davis said the law stated that "it shall be the duty of the commission to cooperate with the Army Corps of Engineers instead of hindering them as you have done and propose to do further."

York recently called on state agencies and preservationists groups to make a comprehensive study of whether the Gilliam Dam should be constructed on the Cossatot River and then make a consensus report to U.S. District Judge G. Thomas Eisele. Eisele has restrained the engineers from proceeding with construction on the dam pending a showing by the engineers that they have complied with environmental protection regulations in the project.

York also has nominated the Cossatot for inclusion in a proposed National Wild and Scenic Rivers System.

Davis said that York seemed to be "real concerned about the 'official' state position" on the Cossatot. He said the Arkansas House and Senate voted earlier this year to go on record in support of construction of the dam and that the project "should not be restrained by judicial edict."

He said York was "meddling" in the state legislature's business.

ONE EXTREME to the other might have been an appropriate theme for 23rd anniversary celebrations for South Korea's armed forces. Above, ultramodern missiles trundle past an honor guard in National Plaza on Seoul's Yoido Island followed, below, by bicycle troops.

Pros, Cons of 4-Day Work Week

By CARLTON SMITH

with the 10-hour day to show whether fatigue is a significant factor.

In short, says Hedges, the short week hasn't yet been adopted on a wide enough scale to indicate that a major change is in the making—or even that it's feasible on a national scale. The companies that have been hospitable to it so far are mostly of a particular type, and don't represent a broad cross-section of industry.

Here's where you're most apt to find yourself on a short week: The company is typically small, independent, probably engaged in manufacturing (though quite a few are of the service type). Most are nonunion, though a few have contracts with small unions. The large corporations have, for the most part, "serious reservations" about the four-day week.

Those four days, by the way, don't necessarily add up to the traditional 40-hour week. You're likely to get a bonus of fewer hours per week. Some companies now on it have a week of more than 40 hours, several have less. But economist Hedges guesses that the short week, as it gets established, will result in productivity gains, and thus "in the long run probably will be shorter" in hours than the five-day week.

Bette Davis In Countersuit

NEW YORK (AP) — Actress Bette Davis, who brought a $5 million suit against the producers of the motion picture "Bunny O'Hare," has been named in a $17.5 million countersuit.

The damage action against the film's star was filed Monday in Manhattan Supreme Court by the producers, American International Pictures, Inc., and American International Productions, Inc.

Miss Davis contended the producers, without her consent, had altered the script and edited the finished film so that it was a "broad, tasteless and artistically assembled slapstick production."

Her claim was challenged by the producers who said that her remarks had "seriously diminished, if not destroyed, the picture's chances of becoming a commercial and artistic success."

Public Opinion of Ngo Dinh Diem Contradictory

By J. T. WOLKERSTORFER

Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — On Monday, Ngo Dinh Diem was a traitor; today more than 2,500 South Vietnamese mourned him publicly as a martyr.

On Monday, the Saigon government observed National Day, commemorating the overthrow of Diem's regime in 1963. Gen. Duong Van Minh, one of the leaders of the coup, said it had been a revolution against "a dictatorial party and family regime, when it had become clear that this regime was opposed by the whole people and had placed the country in a dangerous situation."

Today was the eighth anniversary of the president's assassination, and the Saigon Cathedral was jammed for a memorial Mass. President Nguyen Van Thieu—whose division marched on Saigon as part of the 1963 coup—was not present, but his wife was.

The crowd included army colonels in fatigue uniforms, boys and girls of the Catholic youth movement, and old men with flowing white beards.

After the Mass, the crowd marched a mile to Diem's tomb in the Mac Dinh Chi cemetery, carrying banners which proclaimed, "The sacrifices of President Ngo Dinh Diem must bring unity, not division," and "Commemoration Day—gratitude to President Ngo Dinh Diem; peace, freedom and justice for the Vietnamese people."

Hearses, buses, and minibuses were decorated with funeral wreaths and portraits of Diem draped in the South Vietnamese flag. There were brass bands, a boys' band in military uniforms and white sneakers, and a drum-and-gong corps led by a middle-aged Vietnamese wearing plaid shorts, knee socks, a red cummerbund and a baseball cap.

Speaking beside Diem's pagoda-style tomb, ex-Gen. Van Thanh Cao, a leader of the Cao Dai sect, termed the late president "the personification of the best ideals our people and mankind ever had."

President Ngo Dinh Diem died because he resisted the domineering will of foreigners, the scheme to land massive foreign troops in Vietnam, the attempt to widen a war which will destroy both parts of Vietnam," he declared.

Environment Groups Look to Courts

By MIKE SHANAHAN

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Environmentalists looked to a federal appeals court today as probably their last hope in a battle to halt detonation of a giant nuclear warhead 6,000 feet underground on the isolated Alaskan island of Amchitka.

The Atomic Energy Commission says the blast, equal to five million tons of TNT, will go off no earlier than Friday.

Lawyers for the Committee for Nuclear Responsibility and six other groups planned to ask the U.S. Court of Appeals in Washington for a preliminary injunction halting the explosion.

U.S. Dist. Court Judge George L. Hart Jr. rejected Monday their pleas that the explosion might kick off earthquakes and tidal waves, kill Alaskan and Canadian wildlife or scatter radioactive waste into the air. He turned down their request to temporarily block the blast, final test of the five-megaton warhead for the new Spartan antiballistic-missile system.

After a week of tangled legal hassles, Hart also ordered the Justice Department to turn over to environmentalist lawyer David Sive secret government documents which Sive says confirm environmental hazards of the blast.

Sive says the government suppressed conclusions from four government agencies that the blast is dangerous. Under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969, the government is required to consider the environmental consequences of anything it does and include them in an impact statement. Sive says the AEC statement in effect left out the bad news and included only the good.

The appeals court already has turned down one request for a stay of the test.

Should the appeals court turn down the environmentalists, Sive has said he'll go directly to the Supreme Court. The high court is not in session this week so the appeal for a temporary injunction would be considered by Chief Justice Warren Burger.

Officials of the conservation groups say they are pessimistic about the possibility of a favorable ruling from Burger.

Judge Hart said the environmentalists did not prove to him that the blast would cause irreversible damage to the environment. He ruled the government was carrying out its national security responsibilities in testing the warhead.

What He Wanted Is What He Got

By DICK KLEINER

HOLLYWOOD—(N.E.A.)—No matter what happens from here on, Flip Wilson figures he's licked the system. He's ahead of the game.

Sixteen years ago, Clerow Wilson of Jersey City, N.J., was discharged from the U.S. Air Force. He decided he would try to become a comedian. He was serious about being funny, and sat down and figured out a long-term plan to achieve that objective.

"I'm now in the 16th year of a 20-year plan—or rather, a 15-year plan to be followed by a five-year plan," he says. "When I set out to become a comedian, I did a lot of reading about comics—not the now comics, but the old gentlemen like Bert Williams and W. C. Fields.

"I learned that it takes a long time to be a good comedian. So I gave myself 15 years to learn, to make mistakes. I didn't care if I made any money or not during those 15 years.

"I never had anything to start with, so I didn't have anything to lose. We're all born naked, and if after 50 years we die with a suit of clothes on our back, I figure we're ahead."

So that's what he did, work to learn rather than to make money. He says that for the first seven years, he made less than $1,000 annually. He hitchhiked around the country, working as much as he could, practicing, trying, failing on his face, picking himself up and trying again.

"I dreamed success," he says. "I used to fall asleep under a tree or in a parked car, anywhere, and I'd dream of all this that I have now. I'd wake up and try to go back to sleep, so I could dream it again."

He worked for $10 a night. But he was young, he had no responsibilities, he could afford it. He was learning. And he was aiming toward the second part of his plan, the five years that would follow the 15 years of education.

"After 15 years," he says, "I felt I would know my business and be able to work the next five years for my own security. I figured I'd be able to make enough in those five years to hold me the rest of my life."

He figures he's a couple of years ahead of his plan. That is probably an understatement. Certainly, Flip Wilson has to be considered one of the major talents today. His weekly NBC show is a smash hit, now in its second year. He could write his own ticket for club work.

"My success," he says, "is not beyond my wildest dreams—it is my wildest dreams."

He remembers being a poor kid back in New Jersey, with nothing or the next best thing. He would look on at other kids who had something. And he

I dropped out of high school 11 years ago. Now I have a family to support. Can I complete the studies necessary to get a high school diploma at my age, while holding my job at the same time?

Thousands of people do it every year, people 30 years and older. In an Arizona town there's a new attorney—a woman who had been a high school dropout about 25 years ago. She went back to college a few years ago and earned her law degree at age 40-plus, supporting herself and a teenage son all the time.

To qualify for a good-paying job today you need to have a high school diploma or its equivalent, plus specialized training. There are several ways to do this while continuing to work full-time in your present job. One good possibility is home study. Several accredited home study schools offer courses that lead to a diploma and also prepare you for a skilled job. You can obtain information about these courses from the National Home Study Council, 1601 18th St. N.W., Washington, D.C. 20009. Request a free copy of the "Directory of Accredited Home Study Schools."

Find out if the high school in your area has night classes. Perhaps you live near a vocational-technical school where you could earn a high school diploma in its adult education program and learn a skill or trade, too.

No matter which of these you decide to follow to get your diploma, a modest investment of time and dollars will be required. But it is an investment that should pay you dividends every week for the rest of your working days.

would want things, the things they had.

"But gradually," he says, "I came to the realization that nobody was about to give those things to me. I'd have to earn them myself. It dawned on me that I didn't want the things the other kids had—I wanted my own. There's a difference."

Now he has the money to afford anything he wants. But, as so often happens, he hasn't the time to enjoy them. The only luxury he has indulged himself with is a car—a blue Rolls-Royce convertible—because he likes to drive. But he doesn't have a big house or a swimming pool. Not yet.

Now that he's arrived, he believes he'll work beyond those five years of his plan. Other ambitions have been born in his soul.

"I've had this funny idea in the back of my head lately," he says, "and I know it sounds conceited, but it's possible. I've won an Emmy and a Grammy for a record album, but wouldn't it be nice if I also won an Oscar and a Tony?"

So he may next try movies, and then maybe Broadway. Those are sometime in the future, he realizes he has a lot to learn about both film and stage. But he'll learn those crafts just as he learned his basic trade, comedy.

"I made mistakes," he says, "but if I make a mistake, I learn. I don't make that mistake again—I may make a different mistake, but not that one."

It Can Pay To Get Involved

Judge Books A Beach Boy

By ERNESTINE GUGLIEMO

FAKE TIME—To Get involved, that is. It's worth it, both a sense of something well done (to warm the inner you) and, if you let us know about it, just possibly in $$$$.

A big $1,000 awaits the winner of the NEA-Caravella Take Time To Get Involved Contest, that superdoer judged tops among the many active people who volunteer time and energy for the betterment of their communities. PLUS . . . Bulova Caravella watches (transistorized, electronic and valued at $40) for as many as 50 finalists, from among whom that grand, grand winner will be selected.

How to do it? We thought you'd never ask. Simply enter yourself—as an individual, informal or organized group—or nominate someone else in a letter to Youthbeat.

No age limit will be set on applicants but the project must be done either by or for young people. If a group is submitting the entry all group members' names must be included along with details on how the prize would be divided. Only the names which appear on the initial entry will be eligible for the money. Just write a letter with your name, address, age, one reference and a detailed description of the projects you're involved with.

Winners will be judged on the basis of the project's benefit to the community, the originality of the project and its ability to be applied to other areas of the country.

THE BEACH BOYS, back when at Big Sur.

So if you've done something you're proud of by taking the time to get involved or you know of someone else who has, write a letter to Youthbeat, in care of this newspaper.

OUT OF THE DRAFT—Carl Wilson of the Beach Boys won his five-year old draft fight in his final appeal to a California federal court. He was allowed an alternative service program under the Selective Service Act. Wilson will complete his military obligation by performing with the group at prisons, hospitals and orphanages. The judge considered entertainment of this nature to be in the national interest. Other draft eligibles in the entertainment field might follow Wilson's lead.

A PRIZE IN EVERY BOX—The big controversy about the empty calories in cereal was a blow to the industry. Some companies added vitamins to their products. Some also offered more tantalizing prizes to lure customers.

At one time in every package of your munchies or crunchies or bunchies you'd find a Captain Midnight ring or a secret decoder that every kid on the block had.

Now the youngster who was once the proud owner of a supersubmarine, 1 1/2 inches long, will find a Bobby Sherman record pressed on the package backs of some popular cereals. That's one thing about the cereal industry: They grow with the kids. They keep up with the times.

Roast Duck Is Gourmet Fare

ROAST DUCK — Canned chestnuts, apple and sausage are the mainstay of the stuffing.

By Cecily Brownstone
Associated Press Food Editor

A friend of ours, a good bachelor cook, uses canned chestnuts from France along with apples and sausage for the mainstay of a stuffing for roast duck. Recently we followed suit with delicious results. The stuffing recipe makes a lot, if you have any leftover just heat it in a double boiler or wrapped in foil in the oven and serve at another meal.

The recipe suggests that you use a slow oven for roasting the duck and that you turn the bird midway. But if you have a favorite method for roasting duck at a higher temperature, don't hesitate to use it.

ROAST DUCK WITH FRENCH CHESTNUT STUFFING

1/2 pound bulk pork sausage
4 (about 1 1/2 pounds) yellow Delicious apples (pared, cored and cut into 8ths)
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon thyme
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1 tablespoon sugar
1/4 cup port
1 can (1 pound, 5 ounces) whole chestnuts packed in water and salt, drained (marrons entiers au naturel)
5 to 6-pound duckling
In a 10-inch skillet over moderately low heat, mashing with a fork, cook sausage until it is light brown in color and fat is emitted. With a large slotted spoon remove sausage to a large mixing bowl.

In the sausage fat cook apples, covered and stirring often, until almost tender and slightly transparent looking; they should hold their shape. With a large slotted spoon remove apples and add to sausage.

Stir together the salt, thyme, cinnamon, sugar and port and add to sausage and apples; mix gently. Add chestnuts and mix gently again.

Stuff mixture into body and neck cavities of duck, skewering closed. Roast breast-side down on a rack in a shallow roasting pan in a preheated 325-degree oven, turning midway, until skin is brown and crisp — about 2 1/2 hours.
Makes 6 servings.

Senators Demand Reform in Post Exchange System

WASHINGTON (AP) — A team of senators that for three years probed charges of corruption in the military club and PX systems is demanding urgent reforms from the Pentagon.

In a 300-page final report to the Senate today, they concluded that the Defense Department took no timely action to end the dishonesty and ethical decay they said flourished in the world's third largest retail enterprise: The $3.5 billion a year military Post Exchange system.

The senators, all members of the permanent investigations subcommittee, released a list of 41 separate conclusions, 15 recommendations and prepared to introduce four separate pieces of corrective legislation.

The conclusions include a finding that PX managers and planners in Vietnam were "naïve and incompetent when they were not corrupt" and made the "ludicrous" decision to stock diamonds, precious stones and furs in the war zone. The recommendations include a suggestion that slot machines be banned from all military clubs.

The proposed legislation calls for reorganization of all activities funded from PX and club profits under one Pentagon governing body, and the creation of an inspector general's office that would investigate wrongdoing in all the services. The probe was followed by some significant moves toward reform and a series of official reprisals against those allegedly involved in corruption.

The reprisals included revocation of medals, courts-martial, forced retirements, criminal indictments and trials, demotions and dismissals.

Animal Air Lift

High over Los Angeles, right, a helicopter flies a strange cargo to a new home away from the urban sprawl. A program initiated by the city with the support of government and private conservation agencies, Animal Air Lift is a rescue operation for wildlife. Once a week, animals rounded up in back yards, alleys and sometimes swimming pools are picked up in box-cages, left, and flown to the Los Angeles National Forest to be released, below left. Each lift carries 12 to 16 small animals, birds—such as the pheasant held by animal Shelter Supervisor Wes Mason, below right—and even an occasional snake (nonpoisonous). It is a fresh start for wild creatures dispossessed by ever-encroaching civilization.

A Medicine Man Who Knows His Limits: Chief Joe Logan

By TOM TIEDE

OHSWEKEN INDIAN RESERVE, Ontario—(NEA)—Some years ago, during a routine physical examination, Joe Logan was told he had spots on his lungs—tuberculosis, probably, which meant the 66-year-old Iroquois Indian's future was dim.

The doctor advised a sanatorium.

He warned of a lengthy recuperative period.

Even then, the physician couldn't promise anything. But the story is that Logan was strangely unmoved. He told the doctor he would think it over and come back for another X ray. He then went home to go about his business. And, according to legend, when he returned for the second X ray, the lung spots were gone and Joe Logan was as clean and healthy as a babe.

The doctor in this tale was probably stunned by the outcome, but the folks who repeat the story are not. Many Indians in Canada are convinced that Chief Joseph Logan, a medicine man, can cure just about anything, including himself.

For his part, Joe Logan isn't quite as confident as some of his followers. He admits there are some illnesses which he can't define, much less cure. But in the overall, the point is moot. Sitting in a shack on the land where he was born, Joe Logan says quietly but matter of factly that he can cure "many of man's most dreaded diseases." "Cancer, tuberculosis, ulcers"—he ticks them off on his brown fingers— "arthritis, kidney and bladder, oh a lot of things."

The candor sounds incredible. And summons up remembrances of snake oil and talismans. But Chief Logan, one of 30 current council leaders in Canada's Six Nations Indian Confederacy, is according to himself and his followers, more shaman than charlatan. "I know it's hard for outsiders to believe," he says, "but not for Indians. Our medicine is traditional. We believe it cured all of our fathers throughout all of Indian history, and we believe it can cure us today."

The basis of traditional Indian medicine actually is not so unbelievable as the claims of success. Indians were practicing pharmacognosy (the study of crude drugs such as herbs and roots) long before the white man invented a name for it. And though the benefits of such are considered minimal by established theory, the aboriginal thought remains that a nature provides all cures for all illnesses.

Says one Canadian Indian expert:

"The Indians feel that man has always had cures for his diseases. That God would not have put man on earth without such cures. And when you think about it, the theory is religiously sound. I don't know if I believe in herb cure-alls, but I believe in God myself. And I agree with the Indians that God didn't mean everybody should wait for a Louis Pasteur or a Jonas Salk to come by before human beings could have some control over germ warfare."

Still and all, the established theory has it that Indian claims are hokum. A spokesman for the American Medical Association in Chicago says flatly that: "We don't go in much for the Kickapoo stuff. We do not doubt that roots and herbs have some medical benefits. In fact, a great deal is known about the field of pharmacognosy. But so far as we know there is no evidence to support the conclusion that roots and herbs can cure cancer or anything else. The main benefit of herb mixtures is for use as laxatives. Other than what we

None of this, however, fazes Joe Logan, or the thousands of other Indians in North America who practice or believe in root cures. "We may not be so smart as the white man," explains Chief Logan, "but some of us may be healthier."

Yet, doubtless, over the years some Indian feelings have been hurt by the brush-off of established medicine. As a result, most genuine (if that's the word) Indian herbalists flatly refuse to deal with the white man at all. Logan, for one, will treat only Indians. He says they are more receptive. That is, they believe more strongly, thus the suggestion that faith healings, a phenomenon even the white man accepts, is part of the ancient Indian cures.

But whatever Indian medicine is, real or imagined, faith or antibiotic, Chief Joseph Logan is the first to admit its limitations. He says it is not, nor should it be, considered as an ultimate medical solution. "I'm only human," he says, "I have no powers other than that of nature. I do not see visions. God does not talk to me at night. I am capable of preparing herb mixtures for some illnesses, but when a man comes to me with a broken leg, or a ruptured appendix, I tell him true. Go see a doctor, man. I say. All the roots and herbs in the world won't help somebody who has fallen off his roof."

Sea Lion Returned

WASHINGTON, N.C. (AP)—"Samantha," the friendly fugitive sea lion, is on her way back to Florida.

Samantha escaped from the Seemann Marine Institute at Key Colony Beach in the Florida Keys about six weeks ago. She turned up on the Pamlico River near Bath, N.C., on Oct. 11, when she jumped into the boat of Billy Bosman and has been in this area since then.

The institute learned of the 6-year-old, 165-pound sea lion's whereabouts when a Tampa, Fla., resident saw an item in the newspaper about Samantha and telephoned the institute.

Samantha's trainer coaxed her into a cage with some fish after she performed a series of tricks at a marina Sunday.

CHIEF JOE LOGAN, medicine man extraordinaire, puts in some time in his work shop between patients.
